WELCOME TO THE 15TH ANNUAL ATLANTA CELEBRATES PHOTOGRAPHY FESTIVAL!

Through this festival, ACP seeks to involve anyone who has taken or shared a photograph—that means YOU!

Every part of the city is touched by a variety of events and exhibitions—at the world's busiest airport, in the weekend bustle of Piedmont Park, or tucked away in quiet corners of Atlanta's outskirts—photographers transform retail shops, galleries, museums and public spaces into a coordinated cultural experience!

MONTH-LONG, CITY-WIDE. DELIGHT YOUR EYES, INSPIRE YOUR MIND!

Happy Birthday to ACP—we're 15 years old!

In 1997, a seed was planted during a conversation between two people on a road trip. They were brainstorming about how to build stronger connections between photographers. Why not have an event that would bring everyone together to form a real photography community in Atlanta?

The next year a 501(c)(3) was formed and ACP's first event, a lecture and dinner, was attended by 100 people. ACP's tradition of partnering with other organizations was evident from its earliest beginnings. From a single successful event, the festival has grown to almost 150 events, exhibitions and experiences showcasing almost 1000 photographers.

The ACP Festival is currently the largest annual community-oriented photography festival in the United States!

Our vision? Through excellent, highly-relevant programming, Atlanta Celebrates Photography will help make Atlanta a 21st century, international hub for photography.

Why? Photography touches everyone's life, every single day. It is the way we share our stories. It is the language that we speak—the medium of our era.

Photographs transcend language barriers. They communicate power, love, tragedy and beauty. Photography is the common thread that connects ACP to so many people of all ages, all races and all places.

Lets Celebrate Together!

Teen Spirit

NEW ACP PROGRAM GIVES TEENS WITH CAMERAS AND PENS A NEW PERSPECTIVE

What does a portrait say about a person? What does it leave to the imagination? These are questions being explored by teens admitted to Scottish Rite and Egleston children's hospitals. It's part of a special program created by ACP to comfort those with chronic illnesses who often find the hospital to be their second home for weeks, even months.

A team of volunteers, led by Corinne Adams, organizes the groups and their discussions on portraiture. The teens first take self-portraits, then perform a writing exercise that's raw and heartfelt.

This expressive outlet is proving to be transformative for the patients, who are just discovering who they are. The hospital environment doesn't allow for much control, so this program gives teens control of the camera and the freedom to express themselves. The end results are powerful portraits and statements such as the ones to the right.

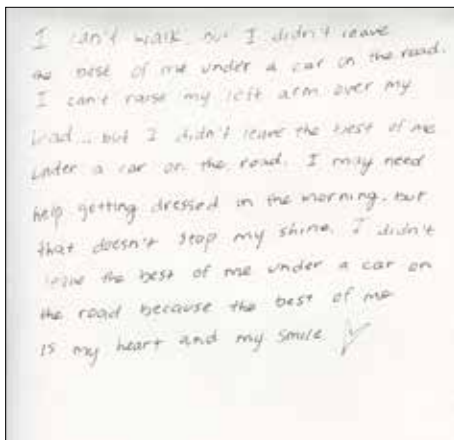

ACP would like to express its gratitude to the outstanding Child Life Specialists at Children's Healthcare of Atlanta; to Bill Boling, the project's founder; to Showcase; to Morris, Manning and Martin; to Digital Arts Studio; to Charlotte Dixon; and to the incredible volunteers for being so integral to the success of this program.

See for yourself at the exhibit at Wing and a Prayer Studio (see page 36 for more info).

“ *My name is Shuron, and I am the abnorm.
When you look at a person, you wonder how does that person get along with their day.
Normal is just a word.
No one is normal.
Everyone has a diagnosis.
But no one's diagnosis defines them.
What is really normal?
Is normal a form of judgement?
Normal is just a setting on a washing machine.* ”

Teens Sarah (left) and Cole (right) bravely share their self-portraits and writings through an introspective ACP program.

Nicholas Nixon

BEHIND THE LENS WITH THIS YEAR'S KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Since the 1970s, Boston-based photographer Nicholas Nixon (born Detroit, 1947) has practiced large-format portraiture and documentary photography, forging a rich and varied body of work celebrated for its humanistic approach and meticulous detail.

Nixon rose to prominence after being included in the groundbreaking 1975 New Topographics exhibit at the George Eastman House in Rochester, New York—a show that is widely considered a turning point in the history of landscape photography. Nixon's subsequent subjects have ranged from porch life in the rural South, the intimacy shared between couples, cityscapes, and schools in the Boston metropolitan area. He has become particularly well known for his close depictions of family, which simultaneously bear a personal meaning to the artist, while communicating on a universal level.

Nixon's best-known series, The Brown Sisters is a serial portrait study that began in 1975 and continues today. Each year, the photographer records an image of his wife Beverly (Bebe) Brown together with her three sisters. Setting up his 8- x 10-inch camera at eye level with his subjects, Nixon captures the sisters congregated together in the same order from left to right, recording their incremental aging and evolving demeanor over time. Although multiple exposures are made, only one is chosen to represent the women in print each year.

Nixon received his B.A. in English from the University of Michigan in 1969 and M.F.A. from the University of New Mexico in 1974. Since 1975, Nixon has worked as a part-time professor of photography at the Massachusetts College of Art and Design. He is the recipient of three National Endowment for the Arts Fellowships and two Guggenheim Fellowships, and has had solo exhibitions at major museums including the Museum of Modern Art (1976, 1988), Art Institute of Chicago (1985) and the Victoria and Albert Museum (1989). His work is included in collections at the High Museum of Art, Atlanta; Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York; Museum of Modern Art, New York; the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston and the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art, among numerous others.

Thanks to the generous promised gift of Lucinda Bunnen, the High is one of the few institutions nationwide that will act as a repository for the entire vintage set of Nixon's Brown Sisters prints.

For information on Mr. Nixon's talk on Sept. 26, see page 25.

DR. DEBORAH WILLIS DISCUSSES HER EXHIBIT POSING BEAUTY IN AFRICAN AMERICAN CULTURE

Deborah Willis, Ph.D. is one of the nation's leading historians of African American photography and curators of African American culture. She is currently the chair of the Department of Photography & Imaging at the Tisch School of the Arts at New York University and has an affiliated appointment as a university professor with the College of Arts and Sciences, Africana Studies. She was a Guggenheim Fellow, a Fletcher Fellow and a MacArthur Fellow. Dr. Willis is the author of Reflections In Black: A History of Black Photographers-1840 to the Present and Let Your Motto Be Resistance. Her book Michelle Obama: The First Lady in Photographs received the 2010 NAACP Image Award for Outstanding Literary Work-Biography/Autobiography. She has exhibited her photographs at the Zora Neale Hurston Museum in Eatonville,

Florida, and just released two books: the co-authored book Envisioning Emancipation: Black Americans and the End of Slavery and Out [o] Fashion Photography: Embracing Beauty.

The Spelman College Museum of Fine Art is the first institution in the Southeast to present Dr. Willis' nationally touring exhibition Posing Beauty in African American Culture (September 5–December 7). Featuring more than 75 photographs by leading, emerging and amateur photographers, it explores the ways in which our contemporary understanding of beauty has been informed by photographers and artists working from 1890 to the present. It incorporates a diverse range of media including photography, film, video, fashion, advertising and other forms of popular culture. It also prompts rich discussions about the contested ways that African and African American beauty have been represented in historical and contemporary contexts.

Posing Beauty does not define beauty. Instead, it considers the idea of black beauty in photography; how it is posed, constructed, imagined, reviewed, critiqued and contested in art, the media and everyday culture. This groundbreaking project is rooted in the belief that beauty is empowering in black culture.

Posing Beauty explores how beauty is realized by both the subject and the photographer. It also asks us to think critically about the notion of beauty.

Reframing “Black is Beautiful” Conversation with the Curator

Join us on Thursday, October 17, at 7 p.m. when Dr. Willis leads a conversation examining and challenging conventional perspectives on identity, beauty, cosmopolitanism and community in Africa and the African Diaspora. She will also examine the relationship between beauty and politics and how such topics have shaped a new understanding of reading black culture from the antebellum period to the present. Doors open at 6:30pm.

Posing Beauty in African American Culture is organized by Curatorial Assistance Traveling Exhibitions, Pasadena, California. The Museum acknowledges support from the Wish Foundation and the LUBO Fund.

The Merits of a Portfolio Review

AND WHY EVERY PHOTOGRAPHER SHOULD HAVE ONE

If you're serious about photography, then take your passion to the next level and participate in a portfolio review. For in-depth advice, there's no better outlet, and you won't find a unique event like this for painters or sculptors.

For photographers unfamiliar with the review process, it basically works like this— you select roughly two dozen of your favorite photographs and arrange for a private consultation with a photographic expert to discuss your work in detail. The ACP Portfolio Review and Walk offers artists the opportunity to meet with highly respected museum curators, gallery owners, photo editors, and agency representatives from across the United States and beyond—all in a single day, and with minimal expense.

You can expect the reviewer to discuss the merits of the photographs such as your obvious strengths, the success of your concept, and the appropriateness of your technique.

The reviewer will also discuss areas for improvement and possible markets for your work.

It is a great idea to come prepared with a digital recorder or a notebook so that you don't miss any pearls of wisdom or important names. You should also come prepared with questions. This is a conversation, and the more you engage your reviewer, the more invaluable your experience will be.

We can almost guarantee you will become a better presenter of your work. And you will receive useful advice pertaining to your technique, your concept, and possible avenues for further research or connections. Other benefits may include a gallery show, a museum acquisition, or the opportunity to have your work published. It is not uncommon for opportunities to arise several years down the road after a portfolio review, particularly if your work is unique and leaves an impression on the reviewers.

At the review event, you will be surrounded by dozens of other photographers, your colleagues. Meeting these photographers is a huge part of the event, and every year ACP hears of incredible opportunities and lasting friendships that arise from these connections.

After a long day of portfolio reviews, ACP hosts the Portfolio Walk. This gives participating photographers the opportunity to casually present their work and interact with the general public at an evening reception. Hundreds of photo lovers attend: students, teachers, families, gallery owners, photographers, and photography collectors (participants can sometimes recoup all their expenses through photo sales at this event). This is such a rewarding way to end an incredible experience.

As in all other areas of life, the most important things you can do after the review are to implement lessons learned and follow up on all leads. Some recent feedback from past ACP Portfolio Review attendees:

“As a direct result of participating in the portfolio review, I have since had my first solo show in Atlanta! I was also able to make professional connections with galleries and other artists that continue to open doors for my work.”

“I was in the ACP Portfolio Review and thanks to that, I am now in a ‘Landscape’ group exhibition in Inner Mongolia, China.”

“The portfolio event is a really great resource! I am going to be part of Fraction magazine’s December edition because of my meeting. I also met with the Blue Sky folks, and they seemed very interested in my work.”

“I sold six prints at the ACP Portfolio Walk...and became a better presenter of my work”

ACP PHOTOBOOK FAIR

August 31 and September 1 @ Decatur Book Festival

Work by Various Artists

EXHIBITION

Sat, Aug 31, 10am-6pm

Sun, Sep 1, 12-6pm

ACP is one of the first organizations to hold a photobook fair featuring self-published and indie-published photo books. This, our fifth Photobook Fair event, will be extra special because it will be a part of the largest independent book festival in the country—the Decatur Book Festival!

Labor Day weekend, visit Decatur Square to enjoy book signings, author readings, panel discussions, an interactive children's area, live music, parades, cooking demonstrations, poetry slams, writing workshops, and more.

Come see our booth, which houses the special exhibitors of the ACP Photobook Fair.

ACP COLLABORATION: RICHARD PARE

September 19 @ High Museum of Art

Work by Richard Pare

LECTURE

Thu, Sep 19, 7pm

Richard Pare, master photographer and founding photographic curator of the Canadian Centre for Architecture, will comment on the impact of Le Corbusier's work on contemporary design.

Le Corbusier was one of the most influential personalities in 20th-century culture. While best known for his architecture and urban planning, his interests spanned interior design, drawing, painting and photography.

The program will include images from his portfolio of Le Corbusier's architecture. A selected group appear in the major retrospective exhibition currently at the Museum of Modern Art in New York called Le Corbusier: An Atlas of Modern Landscapes. The exhibition will also be shown at Fodacion La Caixa in Barcelona and Madrid. The work was made possible by a grant from the AVC foundation, Moscow, and was first presented in the exhibition Le Corbusier: Creation and Secrets, from Painting to Architecture at the Pushkin Museum in Moscow.

Presented in partnership with Lumière and the High Museum of Art.

This program is free, however seating is limited and must be reserved through the Woodruff Arts Center Box Office at 404-733-5000. Limit two tickets per person. Tickets to the museum are sold separately.

AUCTION

Fri, Sep 20, 6:30-10pm

ACP proudly presents our eighth annual photography auction and gala, featuring Denise Bethel, director of the Photographs Department of Sotheby's New York.

At 6:30pm, the evening will begin with a reception and silent auction. The piece de resistance of the silent auction is the section called Ones to Watch—work by up-and-coming photography superstars from all over the country, guest curated by Jennifer Schwartz.

Immediately afterward, at 7:30pm, we will be ushered into the dining room for the delicious seated dinner by Bold American Catering and the exciting live auction.

The ACP auction features a dazzling array of photographers. Many internationally known photographers and galleries have donated work to benefit ACP. Atlanta's premier fine art framer Myott Studio has donated the framing for this event.

Advance purchase of tickets required. Seating is limited. View the Auction Catalog and purchase tickets at ACPinfo.org

ACP LECTURE SERIES: NICHOLAS NIXON

September 26 @ Woodruff Arts Center

Work by Nicholas Nixon

Thu, Sep 26, 7pm

Since the 1970s, Boston-based photographer Nicholas Nixon (born Detroit, 1947) has practiced large-format portraiture and documentary photography, forging a rich and varied body of work celebrated for its humanistic approach and meticulous detail.

Nixon's best-known series, The Brown Sisters is a serial portrait study that began in 1975 and continues to the present. His work is included in collections at the High Museum of Art, Atlanta; Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York; Museum of Modern Art, New York; the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston and the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art, among numerous others.

Thanks to the generous promised gift of Lucinda Bunnen, the High is one of the few institutions nationwide that will act as a repository for the entire vintage set of Nixon's Brown Sisters prints.

Presented in partnership with the High Museum of Art.

This program is free, however seating is limited and must be reserved through the Woodruff Arts Center Box Office at 404-733-5000. Limit two tickets per person. Tickets to the Museum are sold separately.

ARTIST'S TALK

Sat, Sep 28, 1:30pm

Sat, Oct 26, 1:30pm

Pedestrians traversing the Atlanta BeltLine's hiking trail alongside Piedmont Park will happen upon a temporary installation of inward-facing billboards by Gregor Turk. Over the course of the ACP Festival and Art on the Atlanta BeltLine (September through November), the billboards will undergo three "exhibitions" that talk about place in different ways—the first of which will feature photographs of blank billboards across the United States taken by Turk over the course of the last 20 years, a self-referential apparition. The billboards will then "vanish" revealing the Atlanta that had been obscured, and we will then be left with pairs of gazing eyes...the eyes of General Sherman. His apparition is a reminder of the history of Atlanta as integral to our sense of place.

ACP would like to thank Art on the Atlanta BeltLine for their partnership with this project.

Throughout October @ various locations

Not just an Instagram hashtag, #weloveatl is a community-driven photography movement that will be taking it to the streets with appearances at various ACP events throughout the month of October. Created in 2012 by local photographers to help showcase Atlanta mobile photographers' love of the city, #weloveatl is back with a mobile exhibition truck showcasing a rotating exhibition of incredible smartphone photography from across the Metro area.

Look for an installation curated by #weloveatl at GSU's DAEL building at the southern end of Woodruff Park -- plus pop-up gallery shows and Instameets through October. For a schedule of the truck or to sign up for an instameet, head to weloveatl.org.

ACP FILM SERIES PRESENTS "EVERYBODY STREET"

October 2 @ The Plaza Theatre

Conversation with Cheryl Dunn, Ricky Powell

FILM SCREENING

Wed, Oct 2, 6:30-8:30pm

ACP is pleased to present Everybody Street in collaboration with the A3C Festival and the Atlanta Film Festival.

"Everybody Street" illuminates the lives and work of New York's iconic street photographers and the incomparable city that has inspired them for decades. The documentary pays tribute to the spirit of street photography through a cinematic exploration of New York City, and captures the visceral rush, singular perseverance and at times immediate danger customary to these artists.

Featuring: Bruce Davidson, Elliott Erwitt, Jill Freedman, Bruce Gilden, Joel Meyerowitz, Rebecca Lepkoff, Mary Ellen Mark, Jeff Mermelstein, Clayton Patterson, Ricky Powell, Jamel Shabazz, Martha Cooper, Jeff Mermelstein, and Boogie, with Max Kozloff and Luc Sante.

Joining us are special guests, Cheryl Dunn, Producer, and featured photographer Ricky Powell.

Doors open at 6:30. Screening begins promptly at 7.

Journey around the world with National Geographic photographer Alison Wright, as she captures the universal human spirit through her lens. Ms. Wright, a New York-based documentary photographer, has spent a career capturing the universal human spirit through her photographs and writing. A recipient of the Dorothea Lange Award in Documentary Photography for her work with child labor in Asia, Alison travels to the remotest regions of the globe photographing endangered cultures and people, while covering issues concerning the human condition for many of her projects. The photos from her latest book, Face to Face: Portraits of the Human Spirit portrays the indomitable spirit that lives within us all. It is what bonds us as mankind, a continued thread, as together we continue on this journey in the pilgrimage of life.

Wright's photography has been published in a number of National Geographic books and publications, Outside, Islands, Smithsonian Magazine, American Photo, Natural History, Time and The New York Times. Wright's life was nearly cut short during a horrific bus accident on a remote jungle road in Laos and her recent memoir, Learning to Breathe: One Woman's Journey of Spirit and Survival chronicles her inspirational story of survival, years of rehabilitation, and ongoing determination to recover and continue to travel the world as an intrepid photojournalist.

Meet photographers Ben Lowy, Antonio Bolfo, Katie Orlinsky, and the Managing Editor for Reportage by Getty Images, Lauren Steel, to learn what they do and how they do it. How did they get where they are today? What are the most important things to consider when telling a story through photographs? How are photographers picked for assignments? How is photojournalism adapting to the changes taking place in photography today?

Come be amazed by their photographs and contribute to the discussion during the Q & A session after their presentations.

ACP LECTURE SERIES: DEBORAH WILLIS, PH.D.

October 17 @ Spelman College Museum of Fine Art

Work by Deborah Willis

CURATOR'S TALK

Thu, Oct 17, 7pm

Deborah Willis, Ph.D. is one of the nation's leading historians of African American photography and curators of African American culture. She is currently the Chair of the Department of Photography & Imaging at the Tisch School of the Arts at New York University. Dr. Willis is also a prolific author.

The Spelman College Museum of Fine Art is the first institution in the Southeast to present Dr. Willis' nationally touring exhibition Posing Beauty in African American Culture (September 5 - December 7). This exhibition explores the ways in which our contemporary understanding of beauty has been informed by photographers and artists working from 1890 to the present.

For this event, Dr. Willis leads a conversation examining and challenging conventional perspectives on identity, beauty, cosmopolitanism, and community in Africa and the African Diaspora. She will also examine the relationship between beauty and politics and how such topics have shaped a new understanding of reading black culture from the antebellum period to the present.

This program is organized in partnership with the Spelman College Museum of Fine Art and is part of the Spelman College Ida B. Wells-Barnett Distinguished Lecture Series.

ACP SPECIAL EXHIBITION: TEEN SPIRIT

October 19 @ Wing & A Prayer Studio

SPECIAL RECEPTION

Sat, Oct 19, 1-4pm

What does a portrait say about a person? What does it leave to the imagination? These are questions being explored by teens admitted to Scottish Rite and Egleston children's hospitals. It's part of a special program created by ACP to comfort those with chronic illnesses who often find the hospital to be their second home for weeks, even months. This is their opportunity to take control of the camera, create portraits of one another, and then share their thoughts in writings such as this:

"My name is Shuron, and I am the abnorm.
When you look at a person, you wonder how does that person get along with their day.
Normal is just a word. No one is normal
Everyone has a diagnosis. But no one's diagnosis defines them.
What is really normal? Is normal a form of judgment?
Normal is just a setting on a washing machine."

This exhibition is on view before the special reception on Thu and Fri., 10am-4pm.

This special exhibition, co-sponsored by Morris, Manning and Martin, LLP., Charlotte Dixon, and Showcase Photographics, features both still portraits made by teens and a video documentary of their creative work.

WHY SHOULD YOU CONSIDER MAKING A DONATION TO ACP?

We'll let them tell you:

“Atlanta Celebrates Photography, to cite one of the stalwarts, continues to galvanize with substantive programming and partnerships that showcase local artists and bring in key national figures”

—ArtsATL.com 2013

“Fantastic event. Organization, planning, execution and follow up were amazing!”

—Festival Participant, 2012

“Excellent program that gets better every year.” —Festival Participant, 2011

“Interesting, info-packed, relevant! Thanks!” —Lecture Series attendee, 2010

“...one of Atlanta's liveliest arts institutions”

—Atlanta Journal Constitution, 2009

Please take this opportunity to support the arts in Atlanta in a unique way—by supporting ACP!

A donation in ANY amount will help us pay for stamps, toner or other supplies that enable us to continue running our small office, to produce this huge festival!

We could not accomplish what we have without the generous support of culturally minded people like you.

Donations may be made online at acpinfo.org or sent to the ACP office:

Atlanta Celebrates Photography
1135 Sheridan Rd.
Atlanta, GA 30324

ACP is a non-profit 501(c)(3), and your donation is tax deductible as allowed by law.
